Monheim Triennale

~~july 1st - 5th 2020~~ july 1st - 4th 2021

Monheim Triennale postponed until July 2021

Due to our responsibility towards international visitors, artists and because of the impact of the Corona pandemic, the Chairman of the Supervisory Board of Monheimer Musikfestival GmbH, Monheim's Mayor Daniel Zimmermann, and the Artistic Director of the Monheim Triennale, Reiner Michalke, have decided to postpone the launch and subsequent Monheim Triennale by one year.

“We must consider that the Monheim Triennale is an international event, where visitors and participants from all over the world can be expected. We cannot run the risk that some of these will in fact be excluded from participating in the Triennale due to travel restrictions and the impact of the pandemic in individual countries. Consequently, we feel it is appropriate to provide for clarity at an early stage as well as enabling everyone to plan for next year reliably”, emphasizes Daniel Zimmermann. Reiner Michalke adds: “The festival format of the Triennale allows us to postpone the festival cycle by one year without having to announce a cancellation. This way, all participants also have a workable deadline again and financial compensation can be guaranteed.”

The new date for the first edition of the Monheim Triennale is now from 1 to 4 July 2021. The set-up remains identical: “We will strive to bring as many of the invited artists as possible to Monheim am Rhein in 2021 and develop unique projects with them,” says Michalke.

All sold tickets remain valid. Upon request, the purchase price, including the advance booking fee, can be refunded by the advance booking office where the tickets were purchased.

Save the date: Monheim Triennale 1 - 4 July 2021
